Project Overview

A cloning experience that lets brokers reuse data instead of retyping it, first from Aqarmap's compound database, then from any of their own live listings.

Understanding the Process

Before designing anything, we sat with our compound team to learn how compound data really flows.

Sat with our compound team

Mapped how a new compound is added

Traced where brokers' data comes from

The data brokers receive is the same data we already publish for our compounds.
So instead of re-typing it, let brokers clone it. good-quality data and a much faster listing.

A familiar market pattern: brokers post almost the same units, with small differences in: View · Area · Floor · Price

Phase 1 Problem & Solution

Brokers listing primary units in Aqarmap's compounds

THE PROBLEMS

- Publishing took too long
  10–15 min on average for one listing.
- Re-entering duplicate data
  Developers share the same details & photos with every broker.
- Duplicate, uneven listings
  One unit, many versions of different quality.

THE SOLUTIONS

- Clone compound data
  Description & photos in one tap.
- Pick a live unit
  Clone up to 12 fields from a similar unit.
- Skippable & editable
  Never blocks, every field can change.

How it Evolved

Compound cloning
For brokers listing primary units in compounds we have.

"My compound isn't on Aqarmap, I still want to clone."
Phase 1 only helped inside our compounds.

Live listing cloning
Clone any of your live listings, any compound, any area.

Phase 2 Problem & Solution

Every broker, every location, triggered by broker complaints

THE PROBLEMS

- Compound not on Aqarmap
  Brokers outside our compounds had nothing to clone.
- Primary units only
  Resale, rent & non-compound listings weren't covered.
- Similar units, same effort
  Near-identical listings still started from zero.

THE SOLUTIONS

- Clone any live listing
  One "Clone" action in My Listings.
- Pre-filled except what differs
  Price, size, views & floor are fresh.
- Everywhere brokers work
  Web, mobile web and the broker app.
